Special time schedule for the Institute of Electrical and Information Engineering and the Institute for Materials Science

At the Institute of Electrical and Information Engineering written examinations take place during the six consecutive weeks of the lecture-free period immediately before the beginning of the lecturing period. In the Winter Semester examinations take place from 19.02.2018 until 31.03.2018.

The period for oral examinations comprises the whole lecture-free period plus the last week of the lecturing period of the Winter Semester plus the first two weeks of the lecturing period of the following Summer Semester.

For all examinations, the registration period and the admission review days of the first examination period apply. The results have to be checked in the results review period of the second examination period. Objections can be entered during the objection period of the second examination period. For dates see table above.

The examinations of the Institute for Materials Science are offered only once per semester (however, all examinations are offered each semester). The examinations are distributed over the first and the second examination period. During the first registration period, students may register for examinations in either examination period. Results of both examination periods must be reviewed during the results review period of the second examination period. Objections can be entered during the objection period of this examination period. For dates see table above.

Special time schedule for the distance-learning programme Master School Management and Quality Development

The module examinations of this distance-learning programme are offered only once per semester (however, all examinations are offered each semester). They take place directly after the compulsory course work. There is no online registration for examinations.
